The image is a screenshot of a mobile application interface designed to help users find watch parties near them. The app's layout is organized into a grid of cards, each representing a different venue. Each card displays the venue's name, a star rating, and a list of special offers or events. The venues are categorized by neighborhood, with sections for 'Hue Chicago', 'Portage Park', 'Burbank', 'Wild Goose Bar And Grill', 'Brookfield', and 'Humboldt Park'. The interface includes a search bar at the top, a navigation bar with icons for search, deals, map, and a bottom bar with a search icon, a map icon, and an 'Advertise' button. The overall design is clean and modern, with a focus on providing clear information about the venues and their offerings.

The Knockout Run-In

Down to the win-or-go-home nights, when Chicago's bars actually fill up. How the final stretch breaks down:

Jul 9 – 12

Quarterfinals

Eight teams down to four, Thursday through Sunday. Spain–Belgium and Norway–England headline the weekend afternoons; the field narrows to the heavyweights, so reservations and arrive-early discipline pay off.

Jul 14 – 15

Semifinals

Four teams, two peak nights. Reserve where you can, the popular rooms fill fast.

Jul 19

The Final

The peak watch day of the tournament. The marquee rooms turn people away, reserve where you can.

Early kickoff → brunch

The earliest matches air late morning Central. Soccer bars open hours early, pair the match with bottomless mimosas or a breakfast special. See the brunch guide.

Afternoon → beer garden

Midday and afternoon slates in the 90s heat belong outdoors. Drink buckets and happy-hour pricing run at the gardens, browse beer specials and the patio guide.

Evening → marquee rooms

Prime-time and weekend knockout matches fill the flagship bars fast. Arrive early or reserve, and check happy hours for match-window drink pricing.

Chicago isn't a host city, but it's a watch-party town

The 2026 World Cup is played across the US, Mexico, and Canada, no matches in Chicago. This guide is about where to watch. For the marquee fixtures and both weekend finals, get to the popular rooms early or call ahead, the flagship bars fill up. Prices and hours change without notice; confirm with the bar before heading out.

Watch Soccer in Chicago Year-Round

The World Cup final is July 19, but Chicago's soccer scene doesn't stop there. The same bars that open early for the tournament show Premier League on weekend mornings, midweek Champions League, Liga MX weekends, and every USMNT and Chicago Fire match, plus Copa América and the Euros in the off-years. Bookmark this page, these are the rooms to know all season.

The Globe Pub — every league, opens early

Fadó Irish Pub — downtown marquee matches

The Atlantic — north-side supporters

D4 Irish Pub — Streeterville kickoffs
